

LYNCH-VANDEVER.

ANOTHER DAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN THE CONTEST.

Several More of Lynch's Witnesses Examined, But With the Same "Ir-ritating and Not Satisfactory" Result (to Contestant) as Heretofore.

Before E. H. Owen, yesterday morning, the taking of testimony in the case of Lynch vs. Vandever was resumed. The evidence already in fills 319 pages of type-written legal cap, when given in detail.

Previous to the hearing of witnesses, yesterday, contestant, by his attorneys, served on respondent a notice of the taking of testimony of several additional witnesses to those already named, before E. H. Owen, on March 15th.

On part of J. D. Lynch, C. F. Parke was sworn: I reside in San Fernando, Los Angeles county, and did so reside in October and November of last year. [Here the room became somewhat crowded, and Attorney Roberts remarked that there were gentlemen here taking this testimony, and reporters must get out to make room for them, if necessary, or adjourn to the gallery; whereat the said members of the Press smiled, and the Tribune reporter gracefully took a seat on the floor.] Witnesses: A man came to me to enroll my name on the Great Register in October; asked me if I was an American citizen. I told him I did not know, but I was born in this country. He took my signature to a paper. I guess his name was Wilson. I went to the polls to vote on election day, but could not find my name on the Great Register. Wilson was there, and told me it would come on the train at 2 p.m. It did not come then, but a notice did come, and was posted up, saying that our names had got in too late, or something like that. I did not offer to vote, because my name was not to be found on the register. I would have voted the Democratic ticket—straight.

Cross-examined: I did not go to the polls at all. I did not see my name, nor any other name that I know of, on the posted notice telling us that our names got in too late.

A. E. STOLDER, sworn: I reside at San Fernando. Know Wilson. He enrolled my name last October. I went to the polls intending to vote, but did not, because I could not find my name on the Great Register. A notice was posted up at 2 o'clock prohibiting us from voting. I would have voted for J. D. Lynch for Congress.

Cross-examined: I don't know who sent up the bill prohibiting us from voting. I don't know what was in it.

R. F. SEPULVEDA, sworn: I reside in Los Angeles, and did in October and November of last year. I vote at the White House precinct. Was there all last election day and all the following night. I saw from 50 to 75 men in line at the polls at different times during that day. Sometimes it was hard to find their names. It took a man 15 or 20 minutes to cast his ballot; sometimes more, sometimes less. I was there when the polls closed. It was some time after 5 o'clock p.m. about sundown. There were 60 or 70 men in line then. Three or four left the line without voting, at noon, when the crowd was largest.

Cross-examined: I don't know why they left the line. I did not count the number in line when the polls closed.

A. LINDENFIELD, sworn: I reside in Los Angeles; was at the White House precinct nearly all day off and on last election day. There was a large number of men in line—150 to 200—all the time. It was largest about 4:30 p.m. I don't know sure, whether I was there when the polls closed. Saw F. Huitch leave the line about 4:30. He left without voting, said it would take him two-and-a-half or three hours to vote, and he could not wait that long. There were forty or fifty men in front of him then. It took some men two-and-a-half or three hours to vote.

Cross-examined: I don't vote there; went from one precinct to another all day. The longest I stayed at any one place was three-quarters of an hour. I was distributing tickets and driving voters to the polls. I can't name any one who remained in line one hour. I keep a liquor store, corner of Third and Main streets. I was not paid to take voters to the polls. On an average, there were 150 to 250 men in line all day.

WILLIAM ABBOTT, sworn: I was at White House precinct all day last election day. I voted at the Courthouse. There were a good many men in line at the White House all day, as many as fifty or sixty. It took men three-quarters of an hour to vote—maybe an hour. There were eight or ten men in line when the polls closed there—maybe twenty. I can't recollect when the polls closed. I could see the sun then.

Cross-examined: There were twenty or thirty men in line when the polls closed, I judge. I didn't know any of them. I was just standing around there all day. Didn't distribute any tickets or bring up any voters. On an average, there were forty to fifty men in line all the time.

JOHN HUGHES, sworn: Resided in Los Angeles in October and November of last year. Bill Dryden came to enroll me. Did not vote, nor offer to, because my name was not on the Great Register. Would have voted for Lynch. I was at the polls all the afternoon with my back. There were forty or fifty men in line all the time. I did not see any one leave the polls without voting.

As Mr. Hughes passed out, he rather anxiously asked: "Ain't I going to get some fees for this?" and took up his position near the door, apparently waiting for his pay. Contestant's attorneys spoke words of promise to him on the subject, and he slowly departed.

Other witnesses being slow in appearing, and other engagements interfering, an adjournment was taken to this morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Roberts remarking that if witnesses did not appear more promptly he would have attachments issued for them.

Another Sage.

A gentleman who has had the small-pox and escaped without a mark gives the following simple course of treatment: Keep the patient in a warm room with even temperature and good ventilation; keep the bowels open and take flower of sulphur freely in doses of a teaspoonful dissolved in milk two or three times a day until the disease is fully developed; avoid taking cold, and allay the itching by frequently anointing the pustules with sweet oil applied with a feather, which prevents scratching and marking. This completed a cure in his case in the short space of one week.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Economy and Cruelty.

LOS ANGELES, March 4.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] It is probably economy for the one-horse railroad which runs out to the Agricultural Park to overload what cars it does run, and thus avoid extra cars and extra help; but it is powerful hard on the 700-pound horse which hauled the 6x12 car this morning. For some days past a large and increasing number of workmen have taken this car each morning, and it has been so overloaded that some who wanted to ride could not find standing-room even, and had to walk or wait. This morning, between sixty and seventy men were on the car at one time, and even the roof was covered. The aforesaid 700-pound horse was so exhausted when Washington street was reached that another had to take his place, and many remarks were heard denouncing the cruelty of the corporation that would subject a specimen of that noble animal to such strain and exhaustion.

"The merciful man is merciful to his beast." Though compelled to stand up more times than I can get a seat on this car line, I do not mind that so much as to see a dumb, patient, and intelligent animal forced to perform labor beyond its strength, to put coin in the pocket of greedy capital. If this meets the eye of the managers of said road, will they please reflect on the idea of being more merciful to their horses, though their patrons are denied seats and delayed in reaching their work, as is now the case?

Apache.

From the awful desolation of the Llano Estacado

I have traced my red dominions with your blood upon the sand;

You may see its current tingling through the ferny Colorado—

Are you mad that you imagine I shall stay my lifted hand?

I defy you! Do you threaten me with death?

Me, whose fervid spirit surges with the turn and axis of the world?—It has lain forever so;

It has scorched the helpless meek with its seething overflow;

Volcanic, pitiless, remorseless—ask it if I fear to die!

I am one with this—immortal—and the blood-shot suns of years

Burn within my soul as ages they have burned this alkali;

I shall be again the desert—what have I to do with fern?

You shall die, and I shall clasp you to my heart with hot embrace,

Whispering words of awful vengeance in your pallid, speechless face.

Judge Cheney's decision yesterday, restoring the little Chinese girl, Toy Yui, to the custody of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, is a gratification to all lovers of humanity. It would have been pitiful indeed if the laws of a Christian land had turned over a little child—even a Chinese child—to a life of shame and horror.

Gov. Bartlett's veto of the harassing, unrepentant and odious "Stamp Act," as it may be truthfully characterized, is printed in full elsewhere. It is a strong, clear and manly executive utterance, for which the Governor deserves the thanks of just men. A bill of the same ilk, now before the Legislature, deserves a similar fate.

Gen. George Crook, the "Gray Fox" and famous Indian fighter, recently succumbed to the insidious east winds of Massachusetts Bay. He was taken sick in Boston ten days ago, and was too ill on Sunday, the 27th ult., to speak at a meeting arranged by the Massachusetts Indian Citizenship Committee. He is reported better, however.

A special dispatch to THE TIMES gives some sensible views of Health Officer Meares, of San Francisco, touching the smallpox. He appears to be a medico with an exceedingly level head, which is more than can be said for a good many of our steamed and heated and flighty fellow-citizens and other contemporaries in the Northern Citrus Waste-Belt.

The correspondent who writes to THE TIMES deprecating the policy of suppressing the facts about the existence of smallpox in this city is right in principle, but wrong as to the facts. From time to time since the slight appearance of the disease here the facts have been printed in these columns; and today they are further set forth, including an official statement by Mayor Workman over his own signature. A total of twenty-seven cases from the first is nothing to be frightened over. People who hold rein upon their imaginations, keep cool, and take necessary precautions will show themselves wise. The measures already taken for holding the malady in check, and speedily stamping it out, are, we believe, adequate for the occasion.

Henry Ward Beecher.

An exceedingly level-headed and accurate estimate of the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher's influence upon the moral and religious sentiment of the time in which he lived was that made by the Philadelphia Times, and telegraphed specially to this paper yesterday. There can be no disputing the fact that Beecher, in the later years of his life, showed a strong tendency to break away from fixed principles, religious, moral and political, and wander off after strange gods. His public influence diminished in proportion as he did so. Notwithstanding the tendency to hero-worship exhibited in his congregation, the prices of pews in Plymouth Church have steadily fallen lower and lower for several years past. The fact tells a significant story. The world respects constancy, steadiness, fixedness of purpose, which by no manner of means necessarily imply bigotry or conservatism, non-progressive views or hide-bound ignorance. The erratic brilliancy of the sky-rocket act may amuse the curious multitude, but it is the sober and sublime faith of the disciple who preaches from deep-seated and intelligent conviction that convinces the reason and moves the heart. For pulpit pyrotechnics there is an undoubted demand in this day and generation, but the sensation-loving populace who go to witness them come away as, from any other show, unconvinced.

Upon Mr. Beecher's commanding intellectual ability the country and the world have placed a high estimate, but whether his later career in the pulpit, and in politics, his influence, utterances and example, have made the world better, is matter of grave doubt. The country is full of imitators; the weak-brained ape the strong-brained, and many a young pastor and young politician has had his head turned by watching the later and most erratic course of the great intellect that has just gone out in death. Where the convictions are weak, the judgment poor, and the imagination strong, the influence of a Beecher is most potent and most injurious.

His early life has in it the record of severe struggles, noble self-annihilation and splendid achievements, and if his later career were more in harmony with his earlier, his would be a name not born to die, but would live on and on in the high niches of the historic future.

The Smallpox.

The full facts in relation to the smallpox will be found in the local columns of this morning's TIMES, backed up by the authority of Mayor Workman and Health Officer Hagan. As will be seen, the presence of a few sporadic cases of a mild type, with only three deaths out of twenty-seven cases, furnishes no foundation for a "scare." There is probably not a city of this size in the United States which has not such an experience occasionally. The authorities are sparing no pains to make the hospital accommodations all that could be desired, and competent physicians have the care of the disease well in hand. It will do much to restore public confidence to know that, as announced elsewhere, the noble Sisters of Charity are to take charge of the smallpox hospital entirely.

The wild notion which prevailed yesterday that trains were to be stopped and the city shut off from communication with the outside world was one of the most ridiculous of vagaries. There is no power by which any such thing could be done; and no need, were there the power. Simply observing the precautions which common sense dictates—vaccination and cleanliness—neither Anglo-Saxon nor visitor need have any apprehension. THE TIMES will continue to publish the exact facts daily.

The fine variegatedness, so to speak, of the evidence given by Br'er Lynch's own witnesses is a fearful and wonderful thing. A little variation from ten to two hundred as to the same figures is a trifling thing for them.

THE DEAD CLERGYMAN.

Sketch of His Career as Preacher, Writer and Lecturer.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who has forever left his sphere of earthly action, was born at Litchfield, Conn., in the year 1813, and was consequently seventy-four years of age at the time of his demise. Probably no man in the United States has been more widely and universally known than the subject of this sketch.

He came from ministerial ancestry, and was one of a ministerial and literary family. His father, Lyman B. Beecher, was a Presbyterian divine, eminent in his day. His brothers, Charles, Thomas K. and Edward, all entered the profession of the ministry and made for themselves creditable records. One of his sisters, Catherine, was for many years a teacher and writer on various subjects, while one work of Harriet Beecher (Stowe), "Uncle Tom's Cabin," has a world-wide renown. Henry Ward Beecher was graduated at Amherst College, and received his theological education from his father. For ten years after being admitted to expound the Scriptures, this man of great intellect struggled along in obscure churches in Indiana, often having to practice the most rigid economy to make both ends meet and support his family.

At the end of that time some Eastern man, having heard and been impressed with the powers of Mr. Beecher, he received a call to the Plymouth Congregational Church in Brooklyn, N. Y., where he soon became known as one of the most gifted preachers of the country, and gathered around him one of the largest congregations in the land. No one could go to New York but he must go to hear Henry Ward Beecher at Plymouth Church. The power of the man was without doubt very great. He had an innate knowledge of human nature. His mind was rich with a seemingly inexhaustible supply of apt and telling illustrations. His command of language in its simplest and most beautiful forms was great.

From his lips it seemed to flow as sparkling water welling from a fountain. The possession of these attributes, coupled with a finished education, an earnest manner, liberal ideas and a strong personality, made it a pleasure for all to listen to him, and when he traveled as lecturer, he was met by large audiences everywhere. During the slavery troubles and the civil war, he was a pronounced Union man and Abolitionist. He even went so far as to visit England during the conflict to mould public opinion favorably to the North; and by his oratorical and personal force of character made a decided impression upon the public mind of that nation. His abilities as a writer were widely recognized, and for many years he was the author of one of the two of the principal religious papers of the United States, the New York Independent and the Christian Union. Among his most important literary works are the "Star Papers," "Life Thoughts," and "The Life of Christ" (never completed). The life of this great man was not one of unalloyed happiness. As before remarked, his early struggles were many, and in his later life, when he became a great man, whose ideas were known by the mass of the people through the press of the land, and studiously, thoughtfully and considered by the best minds of the age, a severe trial came upon him. In the summer of 1874 Theodore Tilton, formerly Mr. Beecher's associate, and afterward his successor in the editorship of the Independent, charged him with criminal relations with Mrs. Tilton. A committee of the Plymouth congregation reported that the charge was without foundation; but meanwhile Mr. Tilton commenced a civil suit against Mr. Beecher, laying his damages at $100,000. The trial was protracted during six months, and at the close the jury, after being locked up for several days, returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, nine being for acquittal of the defendant and three for conviction. Mr. Beecher protested his innocence, and Mrs. Tilton took both sides of the question and different times. After this trial he continued, as before, to preach and lecture, and during the political campaign of 1884 he was one of the most popular speakers in any degree. "Mrs. Beecher's wump" party, and used his powers with great effect for that party upon the platform and elsewhere. Last fall he went on a lecturing tour to England, where he was very cordially welcomed, and only returned to his native land to find his last resting-place.

BALDWIN'S CHALLENGE.

Montana Regent's Owner Ready to March Him Against Voltaire.
 Missions, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] John D. Morrissey, owner of Montana Regent, is in Memphis with his entire stable of horses, recently purchased at Lexington, Ky. The challenge of E. J. Baldwin made to James Murphy, Morrissey's trainer, through the Spirit of the Times, to make Voltaire march against Montana Regent for from $500 to $20,000 has been shown to Morrissey. When asked by the Associated Press reporter what reply he would make to Baldwin, Mr. Morrissey said: "Horse and money are both here, and if Mr. Baldwin desires a race for two and one-quarter miles for $10,000 he can be accommodated, the race to come off during the spring meeting of the Memphis Jockey Club, which begins April 25th and continues one week. Col. H. A. Montgomery, president of the Jockey Club, will give to the winner of this match, if made, the finest cup that was ever run for in America."

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—A copy of the dispatch from Memphis, Tenn., giving Morrissey's terms for the proposed race, was sent to E. J. Baldwin, which begins April 25th and continues one week. Col. H. A. Montgomery, president of the Jockey Club, will give to the winner of this match, if made, the finest cup that was ever run for in America.

AN INFERNAL MACHINE.

Something of a Scare Created in the Dead Letter Office.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] A package has been delivered at the Dead Letter Office which was mailed in Boston and addressed to the "Prince of Wales, London, England." It was held for postage. When opened it was found to contain a brass figure of Christ, evidently, and a small glass tube containing a letter to all parts of the city. The letter was now said to be a city of mortals. Even those who did not always concur with Beecher in his views had no hesitation in expressing their deep regret at his death. As a mark of respect to his memory, the flag on the public building where he was placed at half-mast and Mayor Whitney had the City Hall bell tolled. The committee appointed by the Plymouth Church in a last Sunday's tax charge of the funeral made the necessary arrangements this morning, and in deference to the deceased's wish, a wreath of flowers was hung on the doorbell, instead of the customary care drapery.

THE RITES ARRANGED.

The following details of arrangements for the funeral were given to the press tonight. The service from the beginning will be under the directions of Rev. Charles H. Hall, of the Holy Trinity Church, who will officiate at the house, where the first services take place, Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock. At 10:30 the remains will be escorted to the church by the Thirteenth Regiment, of which Beecher was chaplain, and Company C will act as a guard of honor until the remains are finally transferred to Greenwood Cemetery, where they will be placed in a receiving vault to await final disposition, which will be decided later.

The funeral services will be at the church, Thursday morning, at the church. There will be no black drapery in the church or house, nor will the family wear mourning. Many times Beecher has said in his sermons: "Strew flowers on my grave, but let no heathenish practice prevail of drapery in black, as a token of sorrow, when a man has passed through death to eternal life."

The Sunday school children of the Home, Bethel and Mayflower schools, all connected with the Plymouth church, will attend in a body at the church. The leading clergymen from all parts of the country will be present. It is the wish of the committee to have the remains lie in the church until all citizens of Brooklyn shall have viewed the remains. The Logan Memorial Committee, in a letter of sympathy, expressed their desire to assist in the ceremonies, and have suggested holding temporary services at the Academy of Music while the services are in progress at Plymouth church. It was decided to adopt the suggestion.

At a meeting of the board of officers of the Thirteenth Regiment it was determined to offer a military escort at Beecher's funeral. The Aldermen of Brooklyn had a special meeting tonight and passed resolutions providing for the draping of the city building and the closing of public offices on the day of the funeral. The municipal council, the Irish National League, tonight and unanimously adopted resolutions expressive of regret at Beecher's death.

FOREIGN OPINION.

What the London Papers Say About the Great Preacher.

LONDON, March 8.—[By Cable.] The Telegraph says: "No preacher, no platform orator in America, put more intensity of heart into his discourses than the man whose clarion voice rang every Sunday in Plymouth Church. With all his faults—and they were many—it is doubtful if America will ever produce another Beecher."

The Standard says: "Beecher was one of the comparatively few Americans enjoying a worldwide reputation. Having peculiar exceptional gifts for the ministry, his capacity for work was amazing."

The Daily News commenting upon the death of Beecher, says: "He leaves behind him either of theology or of church government. His influence, except as a personal recollection, ends with his life. He was for Americans the great expositor of his time. He was a preacher and did nothing but preach."

THE LATE QUAKES.
 Graphic Account of the Panic at Nice During the Shake.
 SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—[Special.] The first accounts of those who arrived at New York, who were at Nice, France, during the night of the late terrible earthquake, have just been received here, telegraphed from New York. The gentleman who furnishes the accounts is M. Ione, of Manchester, N. H. He says: "The great carnival of Nice had just ended, and the last day had been one round of continuous hilarity. We were stopping at the Grand Hotel, and it was rather early when we got home. I was too excited to sleep, and was lying down reading a book. It was about 6 o'clock when the earth began to shake. It was the strangest thing I ever knew, although I had been through one before, in California. I knew it was an earthquake at once, and jumped up and made for the door, to go to the room of Mr. Burke, a friend who was traveling with me, which was just across the hall from mine; but somehow the furniture of the room went flying about through the place as loosely as in the cabin of a steamer during a heavy gale, and for a while I was rushing about the room trying to catch my bed. Finally I got out in the hall and went across to my friend's room. Just then the second shock came. The halls were filled with women, men and children, a majority of whom did not wait to put on extra clothing, but ran for the public squares, to be out of the road of any falling buildings. It was, indeed, the most terrible, fear-inspiring sight I ever witnessed. Although men tried, even in their intense excitement, to show respect to the women and children, it was a time when everybody looked out for himself; for it was expected every moment that the house would fall."

Mr. Ione, continuing, said: "When the third shock did not come, confidence was, to a certain extent, restored. Clothing was put on, and then a great stampede. I had secured our tickets for Paris before, and had our places reserved on the car. Enormous prices, even as high as $250, were offered for tickets held by lucky passengers, but none were sold. Railway trains could not accommodate one-quarter of those who applied, and thus added to the consternation. It was a reign of horror, and the most terrible experience I ever had."

The Closing Hours of His Career—Death Comes During Sleep—Preparations for the Last Rites—English Press Comments on His Character.

By Telegraph to The Times.
 New York, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] Rev. Henry Ward Beecher died at 9:30 this morning, in the presence of most of the members of his family. Those present were Col. H. H. Beecher, his wife and his daughters, Hattie and Daisy, and his son, Henry Ward Beecher, Miss Edith Beecher, W. C. Beecher and wife, Rev. Samuel Scoville, Mrs. S. Scoville, eldest daughter of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, Miss Scoville, who has just come from the Pacific Slope, Miss Bullard, Rev. S. B. Halliday and wife, Bell, the Scotch nurse who has been with the family many years and who was a special favorite of the deceased preacher, the male nurse Riordan, S. V. White, E. A. Seacom, one of the trustees of Plymouth Church and Mayor J. K. Poel.

Dr. Searle noticed a change in the patient's condition at 5:30 a.m., and summoned all in the house to the bedside, momentarily expecting his death, but he lingered much longer than had been anticipated. He passed away gradually and almost imperceptibly, drawing his last breath without apparent suffering or return to consciousness in any degree. "Mrs. Beecher," said Seacom, "bore up wonderfully and with marvelous courage." No cry was heard from the door, Mr. Beecher having always objected to this, and he died in the arms associated with it in the presence of death. Instead, a magnificent wreath of flowers hung from the left side of the doorway, at the top of the stoop, composed of white and red roses, and a large number of white and white stilet. At 1:30 it was given out that the funeral would take place in Greenwood on Thursday next. Some time after 1:30 a.m. a member of Plymouth Church appropriated by will a sum of money to place a statue of Beecher in Prospect Park after his decease. Quincy Wood, the well-known sculptor, who is to do the work, will call at the house in the course of the day for the purpose of making a plaster-cast of the features. It is not intended that any examination shall be made of Beecher's brain organs.

FUNERAL PREPARATIONS.
 The funeral will occur on Thursday, with services at the church at 11:30. Dr. C. H. Hall will deliver the funeral oration. In the sitting-room in the back of the house, where the great preacher spent many hours of his life, Maj. Pond, this evening, was busy in answering many telegrams that were received by Mrs. Beecher. A large number of people called at the house during the evening and left their cards, with kind words of condolence. The pallbearers have not been selected, and their names will not be made public until the funeral. The members of the family were gathered in the front parlor tonight, and received their friends until 7 o'clock, when the house was closed for the night. Mrs. Beecher has borne up wonderfully under her heavy affliction. She is calm and composed. The following was among the telegrams received.

A FATAL PANIC.

Shocking Accident in New York City.

Ten Men Thrown from the Elevated Railway to the Street.

Several of the Victims Have Their Brains Dashed Out.

The Affair Witnessed by a Great Crowd Unable to Render Assistance—Backslings of the Trainsmen the Cause of the Terrible Disaster.

By Telegraph to The Times.
 NEW YORK, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] The large tailor establishment of "Nicol the Tailor," in the Bowery, was destroyed by fire this morning. The fire caused a blockade on the Third-avenue Elevated road, which runs far up above Fourteenth street. The conductor on a train which was blockaded a few hundred feet from the Fourteenth-street station notified his passengers that they could leave the train and walk over the narrow plank alongside the track, and thus make their way to the station. A number availed themselves of the dangerous privilege, and an awful accident was the result. A panic was started on the narrow walk, far above the street, and a number of persons were thrown to the pavement below.

NEGLIGENCE TRAINED.
 The narrow platform from which the people fell was about two and one-half feet wide. It is used by trackmen, when on duty, and above Fourteenth street is not provided with handrails. When the passengers left the blocked cars and took to the platform the gates of the trains offered no objection, as they ought to have done. The long line of men was picking its way, slowly, when suddenly the train ahead started up and began to move. The next one followed. Each, with a successive series of jerks, went about the top of the last train. Each shook the track with a convulsive movement that frightened those in front, and made them hurry ahead rapidly to reach the station safely. Those behind saw that they were scared, and grew nervous in turn. Some were looking anxiously around for support, and a bunch of a dozen walking in single file, just below Fifteenth street, in sight of the platform, started nervously forward to catch the gate of the nearest car, when the train of which it was a part started ahead and nearly shook the foremost one off his feet. Springing back in fright from the moving wheels, he crowded the man behind him on the very edge of the narrow plank walk. From below, where the crowd was watching the progress of the promenade in mid-air, a shout of warning arose, but too late. The man seized wildly at his neighbor.

IN TERROR OF HIS LIFE.
 The latter drew back, but the crowd behind was pressing on; the train was moving on the right. Those behind saw a momentary bunching of the crowd in front, and then one man was seen falling over the edge into the street below, from which arose a frightened wail, that turned into shrieks of terror and despair as man after man struck the pavement and lay mangled and bleeding. Then followed a wild rush in the street, and a wider and more desperate one above in the air. The venturesome pedestrians caught at the gates of the train as it passed, and clung with a grip of despair. It pulled up and was stopped almost immediately. The frightened and breathless men were pulled in, and room was made for others. In two minutes the plank walk was clear. Down below in the street was in progress. Men had fallen in the middle of the street, on the surface car tracks, in ghastly heaps; some motionless, some meaning faintly, and one shrieking wildly in pain and terror. The crowd of thousands, who had watched the blockades from below, surged around and closed in upon the scene. Ten had fallen from the track, all told. That is, ten were found dead or injured. One escaped unhurt, they were not counted. Three at the bottom of the heap were dead. They had fallen headfirst, and had smashed in their skulls, one and all of them. A dead wagon was called, and the bodies were taken to the morgue. Several were more or less desperately injured, and some of them will die.

A SCENE OF HORROR

THE ANARCHISTS.
 Another Demonstration by the Gang at Chicago.
 CHICAGO, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] There was a remarkable scene this afternoon at the bier of the dead wife of Anarchist Neebe. While the room filled up with sympathizers of both sexes, a blonde little woman bent over the coffin and burst into loud lamentations. With clasped hands and streaming eyes she shrieked: "They murdered her! She was murdered by those hangmen! Grinnell and Gary were her executioners! She is in her coffin, her husband in jail; both victims of capitalist bloodhounds!" The people present became highly wrought up, and during the remainder of the day in the death-chamber there was no cessation of curses against "those hangmen." Before evening a copy of the Arbeiter Zeitung arrived, containing an article declaring that Mrs. Neebe died from a broken heart, scared by the conviction of her husband. The article concluded as follows:

"We and other friends of Oscar Neebe are victims of a capitalist and band of conspirators known as the Citizens' Association, and of their tools, Grinnell and Gary. They, in conjunction with an odious, lying press, serving the enemies of the people, have murdered a brave woman and made children not of age orphans. They will reap the curses of the present and the contempt of coming generations."

The sidewalk in front of Neebe's house was crowded with excited people. A committee had been formed to make arrangements for the funeral, and they decided to postpone it, if possible, until Sunday, and make it the occasion of a socialistic demonstration.

Within the Electric Circuit.
 WASHINGTON, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] Henry C. Hall, United States Minister to Central America, informs the Secretary of State that on February 5th direct telegraphic communication was formally inaugurated and opened between Guatemala and Mexico, by the extension of the Mexican land line to Guatemala. This arrangement places Mexico in closer communication with Guatemala and the other Central American States. The lines in all are owned and managed by the Government, and intercommunication at uniform rates.

The Nogales Rumpus.
 NOGALES (ARIZ.), March 8.—The local Mexican court has been in session all day, investigating the recent trouble with Mexican soldiers. In the investigation no way was admitted but officials. Col. Arvizu, the man who created all the trouble, was present, and was on the witness-stand. It is said by Mexican officials that, under the laws, he will either be sentenced to be shot or be placed in prison. He has been placed in jail.

River Steamer Burned.
 NEW ORLEANS, March 8.—The steamer Yazoo Valley was burned to the water's edge, this afternoon, near Grand Ecure, on Red River. The boat and cargo are a total loss. The fire spread so rapidly that there was not time to save anything, even the books being destroyed. Three colored deck hands were lost.

Health Officer Meares Says Los Angeles Has No Reason to Fear an Epidemic—The Atchison Company to Buy the San Joaquin Ranch.

By Telegraph to The Times.

BISMARCK (Dak.), March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] Gov. Church this morning wired Adjutant-General Tyler at Fargo to send some one to investigate the threatened outbreak of half-breeds and Indians in Rollette county, Turtle Mountain district. The trouble was occasioned by the attempt to collect taxes from the half-breeds by detaining their stock, whereupon they came armed to St. Johns several hundred strong and retook the stock. Many of these Indians were with Riel in the late Canadian outbreak, and trouble is feared if they get whisky. Gov. Church has also given Gen. Dennis instructions to see that the military is in condition to leave at a moment's notice, and great excitement prevails in the ranks.

The Governor, this afternoon, received an answer from Adj. Gen. Tyler, saying that he had wired persons in Devil's Lake to investigate, and would himself take the next train north. Mr. Meares, of Dunsmuir, writes a letter urging the organization of cavalry immediately.

A Devil's Lake special says: "The trouble will probably be settled without the use of troops. Maj. Cransie, the Devil's Lake Indian agent, has gone to the mountains. At last accounts, the half-breeds were in possession of their stock, captured from the Sheriff."

IN ASHES.

Destructive Fire at Walla Walla—Loss, $125,000.

WALLA WALLA (Wash. Ter.), March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] Fire on Main street this morning destroyed property to the value of $125,000. Along both sides of Main street, between Third and Fourth and to Rose street, all except two buildings were frame, occupied by prosperous small dealers. The principal losers are Adolph Schwarz, building and saloon, $15,000; J. S. Cox, general merchandise, $13,000; Z. K. Straight, jewelry, $4,000; J. Kasper, dry goods, $13,000; R. Kelling, liquors, $35,000; J. Bauer, tobacco, $13,000; the City Hall, $15,000. The total insurance is about $40,000.

The remains of two human beings were found in the ruins. One was identified as Mr. Bell, a butcher. The other is unknown, and was probably a Chinaman. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been incendiary.

PORTLAND (Or.), March 8.—S. B. Johnson, editor of the Walla Walla Union, visiting this city, has just received a dispatch from his home, saying:

"Fire has burned the district on Third and Fourth streets, from Elder alley to Rose street. The district all gone except Goldman's. The Union office was saved, though on fire several times. Loss, fully $100,000."

SAN JOAQUIN RANCH.

The Purchase by the Atchison Among the Probabilities.

SANTA ANA, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] Negotiations are in progress for the purchase of the celebrated San Joaquin ranch, one of the largest in the state, and containing 180,000 acres. The price is $1,250,000. The failure of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to buy the ranch has stimulated the exertions of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe people, who are at present looking over the ranch with a view of purchasing. A wealthy syndicate also has been looking over the grounds, and, if purchased by them, it will be cut up into small tracts. Neither the Southern Pacific nor the Atchison has as yet been granted a right of way through the ranch. All appearances indicate that before long the sale of the ranch will be recorded to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe.

The capital stock is $100,000, divided into 50,000 shares, of which the directors have subscribed $1800.

PROPOSED OPPOSITION FERRY.

It is stated that W. J. Miller, agent of the Petaluma Transportation Company, has chartered the sternwheel steamer Frank Silva to carry wagons and other freight between this city and Oakland. They will soon have another steamer plying between both cities. This is in opposition to the other ferry lines, which, expressmen claim, have been charging them too high for the transportation of their wagons and freight. If the business warrants it, a double-end, side-wheel steamer will be built to accommodate passenger traffic, and will make hourly trips during the day. A cut will be made in passenger fares to 10 cents each way.

THE VITICULTURAL CONVENTION.

The Viticultural Convention this afternoon elected the following officers for the ensuing year: H. W. McIntyre, president; McPherson Hill, of San Francisco, first vice-president; F. P. Elsen, of Fresno, second vice-president; John T. Doyle, third vice-president; J. B. Stillman, fourth vice-president; E. W. Martin, fifth vice-president; E. H. NO CAUSE TO FEAR.

What Health Officer Meares Says of the Smallpox Scare.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—[Special.] Although the telegraph dispatches from Los Angeles announce fresh cases of smallpox, the news does not seem to create any alarm here. Dr. Meares, the Health Officer, and who is recognized as our best authority on epidemics, says, in an interview published this afternoon in the Post: "I am not surprised at this sudden increase in the number of cases in Los Angeles, for it is now time for the cases to appear that were exposed when the fifteen cases were reported there. It is very likely that they will have more, for some of them were probably not discovered until the disease had developed to that stage where it becomes contagious. They ought, however, to get it under control in a month or six weeks, by thorough vaccination. They have done a great deal of vaccinating there in the last two weeks, and twenty physicians ought to be able to vaccinate every man, woman and child in that city in a few days. When that is done, if they use good vaccine matter, the disease will soon abate and die out. I have expected that we would have quite a number of cases here, but fortunately, none have come this way. However, if they do, I have no fear of an epidemic of smallpox, because we are well guarded by vaccination, and, besides that, cases are always promptly reported and taken to the hospital before the disease has fully developed."

Dr. Meares strongly urges the use of pure, fresh bovine virus. He says that virus after a time becomes inert. "The greatest danger," he added, "to the people of Los Angeles lies in the fact that they were liable to have inert vaccine matter sent them from the East, and that those operated on with such matter would be more likely to catch the disease, because of the fact that they would be less cautious."

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

SACRAMENTO, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] A message was received from the Governor vetoing the bill appropriating $70,000 for a fund for the manufacture of jute at San Quentin. The veto message was made the special order for tomorrow morning.

At the evening session, Mr. Vrooman offered a resolution to adjourn at midnight tomorrow. Carried.

The Pilot Bill was reported by the committee, and amended so as to reenact the present law, and, as amended, its passage was recommended. No action was taken, although a petition in favor of lower rates was received from Sacramento firms.

The Senate bill was amended, providing that the use of water for irrigation, when enjoined, may be had by filing an indemnity bond for use of the water until the case is determined by the courts.

The Senate refused to accept the amendments made by the Assembly to the Appropriation Bill, and a conference committee, composed of Messrs. Moffitt, White and Vrooman, was appointed.

Assembly.

SACRAMENTO, March 8.—A message was received from the Governor, stating that he had approved Mahler's bill appropriating $8000 for a monument over the grave of James W. Marshall, discoverer of gold in California.

Mr. Brierly's bill to create an irrigation, drainage and water rights legislative commission, to define its powers and duties, and to provide for payments for its costs and expenses, was taken up out of order and read a second time. It was amended by making it the duty of the commissioners to examine the subject of water rights in connection with hydraulic mining, and raising the appropriation to $70,000.

The bill was made the special order for tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Varie's substitute joint resolution relative to mining debris was adopted. After a long preamble, it says:

Resolved, that our Senators be instructed, and our members of Congress be requested, to take such steps as will, in their judgment, relieve the mining industry of California from its present status, and to that end procure the passage of a resolution of Congress rescinding by resolution by which the sum of $40,000 was appropriated at the last session to prosecute miners, and that the unused portions of that money, together with such other sums as can be procured from Congress, be applied, first to the immediate and thorough investigation of this mining debris question by a commission of competent government engineers, for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not it can be devised whereby the present conflict between the mining and farming sections may be adjusted and the mining industry rehabilitated; second, to the carrying-out of such plans, in the event that any suitable ones be determined on.

Mr. Brierly's bill, providing for printing, electrotyping and distributing the State series of textbooks, was finally passed.

REPORTS ABOUT THE ATCHISON DENIED.

NEW YORK, March 8.—A Boston dispatch says: "For some time rumors have been afloat that the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company was carrying on negotiations to establish a through connection from Chicago to New York, but President Strong yesterday emphatically denied the statement. He says that the Atchison has made no attempt to secure any connection with any line east of Chicago or St. Louis, and has neither an intention to secure any such connection nor a desire for it. The story, he said, was made up out of whole cloth, as was also the statement recently published that the Atchison was trying to obtain terminal facilities on Staten Island."

NOTES FROM ABROAD.

Nicaragua's Agent Seeking European Capital to Build the Canal.

LONDON, March 8.—[By Cable.] The Nicaraguan representative here has sent a letter to the Times which says: "The President of Nicaragua has ordered me to deny the existence of the treaty with the United States stipulating that that country should control the Nicaraguan canal, recently mentioned in connection with the formation of a company to build the canal. The treaty alluded to is doubtless that of 1884, which lapsed because of the failure of the United States to ratify it. The government, in granting any concession, will not omit any means to secure the greatest neutrality for the canal."

DEATHS.

STEPHENS.—At San Gabriel, March 8, 1887, William H. Stephens, a native of Virginia, aged 70 years.

Funeral at 3 p.m. today, at the Church of Our Savior, San Gabriel.

Wm. H. Stephens was born in Virginia in May, 1816. At an early age he removed to Tennessee, and there carried on a lucrative law practice for about thirty-five years. He was noted as an able political speaker, and filled various offices. During the war he commanded a regiment in the Confederate army, and was known as a gallant and skillful soldier. In the constitutional convention of Tennessee, in 1870, he distinguished himself as one of the leading spirits of that body. Shortly afterward he was a strong candidate for the United States Senate, being defeated by ex-President Andrew Johnson by a majority of only two votes. Deceased had resided in Los Angeles county about twelve years, and leaves a handsome estate. There are left to mourn him a large circle of friends and the following family: the widow, two daughters—Mrs. A. B. Chapman and Miss Katie Stephens, and six sons—W. D. Stephens, Judge Albert M. Stephens, C. M. Stephens, Harry Stephens, Richard Stephens, and Lee Stephens.

THE RAILROADS.

Notes of Interest from Along the Lines.

The San Bernardino Times of the 5th says:

On invitation of Mr. Ferris, several gentlemen accompanied him over the new road to Cucamonga yesterday afternoon. The rails are all laid to Cucamonga, and have reached a point of destination, and the big winery. Like all the work done by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Company, everything about the road is first-class. The rails are of the heaviest iron, and the road-bed well constructed. The beauty of this route will be that it passes through the best portion of the Southern California. Nearly the whole distance between here and Los Angeles the country is like a garden. Its grades, too, are much lighter, and better time can be made. People traveling along the Southern Pacific between Los Angeles and San Bernardino can form little idea of what the country is, as that road goes through the worst part of it; of this country, nothing is seen but cotton, and the surroundings of that town are not such as to impress the traveler with a high opinion of San Bernardino Valley; whereas, the San Bernardino and Los Angeles road travels a fertile country the whole distance, and, coming up the extension of Third street, a very impressive view of the city can be had from the cars. Another thing for which we owe thanks to this company is the manner in which they improve the streets their road passes through. In return for the right of way granted them they have everywhere put in first-class roads, in order that the public shall not be inconvenienced. Third street, west of town, was a bog for many years, but they have graded and graveled it, until today it is one of the best roads in the county. They are now doing some work on I street, and this will be a good street in a few weeks.

SAN DIEGO'S QUOTA.

The San Diego Sun of the 5th says:

The following telegram from the Chief Engineer of the California Southern Railroad Company, received today by E. S. Babcock, Jr., is self-explanatory and of great interest to the citizens of San Diego:

SAN BERNARDINO, March 5.—10 a.m.—The plan of the depot is nearly ready. I shall let the work by contract as soon as I have submitted plans to yourself and Mr. Hamilton.

We shall give the San Diego people a handsome building. It will be ready before the six months expire.

(Signed) F. T. PERRIS.

Amended articles of incorporation have been filed by the San Diego Central Railroad Company. The board of directors is composed of five to nine members, and now consists of the following: E. S. Babcock, Jr., San Diego; J. F. Crank, A. W. Francisco, Los Angeles; George O. Manchester, Boston; C. W. Smith, Topeka, Kansas. Levi Chase transfers his fifty shares to J. F. Crank; R. A. Thomas transfers his one hundred and fifty shares to A. W. Francisco; J. R. Thomas and J. Gruen, five, two hundred and fifty shares to George O. Manchester and C. W. Smith. D. H. Horne, W. W. Thomas, W. H. Van Slyke and George A. Cowles remain stockholders, and the capital stock is $1,500,000. George O. Manchester is the newly elected president of the California Southern Railroad Company.

The Chicago and North Western is the well-known general manager of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé system. That the California Southern is practically "one and the same" with the Atchison system is well known, and it now becomes evident that the San Diego Central Railroad is also a part of that powerful and enterprising syndicate whose efforts have resulted in so magnificent a development of the Southern. While in the city a short time ago General Manager Smith stated that the steel rails had already been purchased for the San Diego Central line, and that it would be constructed at once. Doubtless anticipating the need in the near future of facilities for ship-repairing nearer than the northern seaport of San Francisco, and in work having that they should have such facilities at their principal point of business on the Pacific coast, the Atchison syndicate subscribed $10,000 for the building of the marine railway and dry dock in the harbor of San Diego.

San Diego.

San Diego has now a great many buildings partly finished and in contemplation. Among the many to which a Union reporter had his attention called yesterday, only a few are remembered. First may be noticed the elegant cottage, which Mr. Wright will erect on Florence Heights, near the hotel, to cost $60,000. Then, on the corner of Sixth and Beach streets, A. Overbaugh will build a frame residence, with a brick foundation, to cost $10,000, and in work already commenced on the foundation. Mr. Clinkscales is also to construct a pretentious cottage on Ninth street, near E. J. R. Jones is starting a cottage in Old Town, which will cost $25,000. E. W. Morse has two handsome cottages under way. A Chicago man has accepted the plan for a large, new laundry at the corner of State and 13 streets. D. C. Reed has already let the contract, and work has commenced on a three-story brick block at the corner of Sixth and H streets. Down on Columbia street, Dr. Whitfield has two cottages nearly completed. Comstock & Trotsche have the accepted plan for a very neat cottage in Simmons' addition, which is to cost, completed, $12,000. Basket & Osgood hold the accepted plan for a three-story brick block, 100 feet square, to go up at the corner of Fourth and H streets. The large lodging-house, corner Seventh and I streets, is in the hands of the plasterers. Ditto that one near the Horton House, on Fourth street. The addition of forty rooms to the Elite lodging-house, on D street, is nearing completion. The new Episcopal Church, of which more accurate mention in the near future will be made, is progressing rapidly. The architects are all busy at their desks. The contractors are all either hard at work or engrossed in figures.

In yesterday morning's Union appeared an advertisement offering a reward for a purse containing $120 and very valuable papers lost by Charles Salavist in the water-closet at Till Burness's saloon. Mr. Burness, immediately after its appearance, employed Constable Russell to look up the matter. Last night heard Officer Cota arrested George Gerovich and T. Allovich, two young Austrians, for the robbery. They had been spending money lavishly during the day, and this attracted attention to them last. After considerable pumping, Allovich made a statement to Mr. Russell and District Attorney Copeland admitting the finding of the purse. He said that he had taken the purse to Gerovich as soon as he found it, and asked his advice. Gerovich advised him to keep it. They enjoyed a good time on the proceeds of the find, and finally went to Gerovich's room, where they went to bed. When Allovich woke up his money was gone. The young man changed a $100 bill in the Combination Store, on Fifth street, soon after the purse was lost. A collar, bought in order to get a reasonable excuse for the changing of so much money, was found upon him.

The purse, containing about $90, and the papers, were recovered by Officer Russell from a place where Gerovich had bestowed it, after getting it from his "partner." The men are in jail, under charge of grand larceny.

Happy Redlands.

[San Bernardino Times, March 5.]

Articles of incorporation of the Union Bank of Redlands were filed yesterday in the office of the County Clerk. The amount of capital stock subscribed is $50,000. The number of directors is nine, as follows: S. E. Hayes, William Craig, F. Drake, E. C. Johnson, R. J. Waters, R. B. Lane, Lewis Jacobs, Hon. H. M. Barton and Curtis Wells. Brick for a fine two-story bank building is already upon the ground, and work will be commenced next week. The bank will be fitted up with all the modern appliances for banking, including a secure vault, a Diebold safe, burglar-proof safe, Sargent time-lock, etc.

The New Coronado Ferry-boat. [San Diego Sun, March 5.]

Today the order was placed for the material to be used in the construction of the new ferry-boat for the Coronado Beach Company, to ply between San Diego and Coronado. It will be a double-decker, 175 feet long and 55-foot beam. Two engines will be used. The boat will be built here by Christopher Telson, a veteran ship builder. This will be quite an event for the harbor of San Diego, being the beginning of an era of prosperity hitherto unknown along the water front, to which the boats will be given by the construction of the marine railway and dry dock.

An entry in the diary of a woman of Connecticut, in 1790, shows how witty some of the girls of that period were:

"We had roast pork for dinner, and Dr. S. who carved, held up a rib on his fork and said: 'Here, ladies, is what Mother Eve was made of.' 'Yea,' said Sister Patty, 'and nine members, and now consists of the following: E. S. Babcock, Jr., San Diego; J. F. Crank, A. W. Francisco, Los Angeles; George O. Manchester, Boston; C. W. Smith, Topeka, Kansas. Levi Chase transfers his fifty shares to J. F. Crank; R. A. Thomas transfers his one hundred and fifty shares to A. W. Francisco; J. R. Thomas and J. Gruen, five, two hundred and fifty shares to George O. Manchester and C. W. Smith. D. H. Horne, W. W. Thomas, W. H. Van Slyke and George A. Cowles remain stockholders, and the capital stock is $1,500,000. George O. Manchester is the newly elected president of the California Southern Railroad Company.'

"I hear 'bout you'll be for deuce," said a colored waiter to the Congressman he serves, "an' it 'twont do no good. De British can fire over de fence and crawl under it. Wot de country wants is a bill for de fort."

Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great.

TSOY YUK.

JUDGE CHENEY SUSTAINS JUSTICE AUSTIN'S ACTION.

The Unfortunate Little Chinese Girl Rescued From Heathen Hands and a Life of Shame, and Given to Christian Guardians.

Yesterday morning, upon resumption of the Tsoy Yuk habeas corpus case, Judge Cheney listened to the argument of W. S. Van Dyke, on behalf of the petitioner, after which, in a lengthy verbal opinion, he remanded the girl to the proper officer to carry out the instructions of Justice Austin in committing her to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of San Francisco. Following are the points decided by Judge Cheney:

The Justice of the Peace had jurisdiction of the case.

The commitment in such cases need not be so definite and explicit as in criminal cases. It is sufficient if it shows the intent of the magistrate making the commitment.

It was a proceeding under the police powers of the State.

The object of the statute under which this proceeding was brought is to care for the minor, and at the same time to protect society from an increase of vice.

The commitment was not one for a criminal offense, and it did not visit a penalty upon the minor in this case.

The magistrate who had ordered the commitment first made a full examination in the matter, and to his satisfaction established the following facts, viz:

That the minor was under sixteen years of age; that she came under the description set out by the statute in question. That being the case, this court is not inclined to disturb his finding without affirmative evidence to the contrary.

A curious fact has been brought out in regard to the Chinese method of reckoning time in ages. Heng Ship claims the age of the girl to be seven years in April next. Every portion of a year, in the life of a Chinese is counted a full year. For instance, a person born December 24, 1886, is two years old January 1, 1887. Hence, at this time, the girl is only fifteen, and really does not look to be thirteen years of age. The evidence of all the Chinese witnesses to establish the good character of Heng Ship's house was to the effect that they did not believe it to be a house of prostitution, but they had never, or hardly ever, been in the house, and did not know. On the other hand, the police officers and other white witnesses, testified to the bad reputation of the house. Taking all the facts into consideration, the judgment of the lower court is affirmed, and Tsoy Yuk is remanded to the proper officer, to conform to the decree of that court.

THE BELL CASE.

The Defendants Appear—Some of the

After considerable delay, something was at last done yesterday in the Bell alleged criminal libel case. A deputy constable went out to Pomona on the morning train and arrested B. A. Stephens, editor of Pomona Progress. G. Wiley Wells and Capt. A. M. Thornton were not arrested, but being notified, appeared with Stephens before Justice Taney yesterday forenoon. The singular thing about the matter is that no warrant had been issued on the complaint filed by Bell, and that the only warrant was on a complaint filed by Charlie Bell. The arraignment of the three defendants was set for 9 a.m. today, and all three were let go on their own recognizance. None of them are "skinned," and all propose to "stand up to their fodder." The subpoenaed cards speak for themselves:

A CARD.

In last Saturday's Porcupine, Horace Bell says that G. Wiley Wells, B. A. Stephens and A. M. Thornton "have been arrested and placed under bonds." We denounce the statement as an unqualified falsehood, and without foundation in fact, and manufactured out of whole cloth, and furthermore, that when Bell wrote the above statement he knew he was uttering a wilful and malicious lie. No warrant whatever has been issued on Bell's complaint. No arrests were made till the Monday following (yesterday), and those were on the complaint of Charles Bell.

G. WILEY WELLS,
B. A. STEPHENS,
A. M. THORNTON.

A CARD.

Horace Bell says in last Saturday's Porcupine that I "escaped lynching by fleeing the State" of California. Horace Bell is a liar. But what did Horace Bell leave Indiana for?

JOHN OTTO

Gets His Children From His Dead Wife's Lover.

Last evening, at half-past 6 o'clock, before Judge O'Melveny, was heard the petition of J. W. Otto, of San Bernardino, praying for the custody of his minor children, Matilda, aged 10 years, and Annie, aged 8 years.

The petition on which the writ of habeas corpus was issued told the story of more than one unhappy family. The wife of Otto, in 1881, eloped with one Charles Lohmuller, taking with her the two children in question. In 1885 Otto obtained a divorce from his wife, the decree giving him custody of the children. But his wife and her paramour had left the State and he could not get them. Later, the wife died, and Lohmuller returned to this city and took up his residence at 36 Garey street, where the father found him and the children.

Judge O'Melveny, after hearing the evidence in the case, granted the petition and ordered the father to take possession of the children. Upon this, a heartrending scene occurred. The two little girls have been with Lohmuller for five years, and refused to leave him. They rent the air with their shrieks, and clung to him frantically. The Judge had to order the Sheriff to assist the father in tearing them away and carry them down stairs by force. On the streets, their screams drew a large crowd.

Lohmuller claims that the wife left Otto because he could not support the family; that he (Lohmuller) has provided for them for six years, and married their mother after her divorce, and promised her when she died to care for them till they were old enough to decide for themselves whether they wanted to return to their father or not.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

ON WASHINGTON ST., 100 FEET WIDE.
The future grand boulevard from Los Angeles to the Pacific Ocean.

We offer, as a free gift, 24 $300 lots to any one who will build a $20,000 hotel; also, one $300 lot to a purchaser of a lot who will build a $1250 house on ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

The plateau of ARLINGTON HEIGHTS offers the most magnificent view to be had in Southern California, embracing the whole of the Los Angeles Valley and extending from San Pedro and Santa Monica on the Pacific Ocean, across the plains to the foothills, and up to the snowy heights of the Sierra Madre Mountains. This tabular, or mesa, is perfectly level and unbroken, but 60 feet higher than the elevation of Spring or Main streets. To reach it there are no hills to climb, and as the streets leading from the center of Los Angeles city up to it follow the same even grade it is as easy of access as Washington street. The soil of ARLINGTON HEIGHTS is a rich loam, mellow and friable at all seasons and easy to cultivate. The vineyards and orchards surrounding it give undisturbed evidence that every acre of ARLINGTON HEIGHTS will produce grapes and fruit without irrigation. A stratum of purest well water is struck anywhere on the tract at a depth of from 10 to 40 feet. The plateau of ARLINGTON HEIGHTS is unequalled for health. A gentle breeze from the Pacific Ocean fans it daily; sea fogs never reach its elevation, and frosts being almost unknown on the "mesa," the most tender plants, such as tomato vines, bear fruit there every day of the year. The Santa Monica branch of the S. P. R. R. runs alongside this elegant tract; the present terminus of the electric streetcar line is one-half mile from ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, and it is expected that it will be extended to and through ARLINGTON HEIGHTS. Washington street to an easy walking distance from this tract. The elevated plateau of ARLINGTON HEIGHTS terminates in a ridge or descent of 60 feet just south of Adams street, and in a similar ridge north of Pico street. On these ridges are located the most magnificent building sites in Los Angeles. No houses can ever be built high enough in front of them to obstruct that glorious view of mountain, valley and ocean; from Catalina Island to San Jacinto Peak, and down again over the hills to the Pacific Ocean. The blue waves of the Pacific Ocean beyond the coast of Santa Monica. Whoever wishes for a beautiful home sheltered from the noise and bustle of a busy city, but within a twenty minutes' drive of the Plaza, should select one of the lots of ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, a lot of 5 1/2 acres whereon to build his house.

During the last few years it has occurred frequently that men have bought five or ten acres in Los Angeles, sold out half in lots for the price of the whole, and retained the valuable grounds for a home, thus free of cost. Such chances are offered today in ARLINGTON HEIGHTS. Every acre has its own beautiful suburban, not too distant from the center of activity nor too near its noisy streets. ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, through a happy combination of advantages, promises to come what St. Cloud is to Paris, or Richmond to the city of London.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS hitherto was one vast body of land of nearly 700 acres. Our map shows a magnificent subdivision of it into 5 1/2-acre blocks, including streets, each containing 24 lots 50x150 or 200 feet, and each surrounded on all sides by streets 50, 80 or 100 feet wide. Investors who desire to appreciate the importance of a well-planned subdivision will foretell a great future for this tract, with its miles wide streets, and each other at right angles. The elegant lawns and stately mansions of the rich will be found here within a short time, and purchasers who take advantage of our low prices and easy terms will reap a golden harvest of their investment in ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

Medical.

SPECIAL NOTICE

TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. M. HILTON WILLIAMS

Continues to treat all the various diseases of the Head, Throat and Chest, including the Eye, Ear and Heart, by his new and complete system of Medical Inhalations, combined with proper constitutional remedies for the Stomach, Liver and Blood, etc. Probably there has never been any system of practice so popular as one that has so completely revolutionized the system of medical practice as the Aerial or Inhalation System, for head, throat or lung affections. The cures effected are simply marvelous, and can be substantiated by the very best citizens of Los Angeles. During the past three years we have endeavored to be conscientious with our patients, and if, upon examination, we find in our judgment, the case to be of an incurable nature, we unhesitatingly inform the patient or friends. We believe this system to be infallible and are ready to condemn any physician who would do otherwise. Below we give a sample of the cures effected by us.

LOS ANGELES (Cal.), Sept. 24, 1886.
Dr. M. Hilton Williams—Dear Sir: I have been contemplating for some time past making a statement of my case and the benefit I have derived from your treatment, remembering how glad I would have been could I have seen something of the kind from a physician in the city where I could have referred, when I first came to Los Angeles from my home in New York State.

I had been suffering for several years with what various physicians in the East pronounced "chronic obstructed laryngitis." I spent considerable time in the Clifton Sanitarium, and employed the best medical skill I could find, all without any permanent benefit, and a last resort our family physician recommended Los Angeles. For a time I improved, and then I began to go backward and all my former symptoms returned.

Through a medical friend I was induced to try your treatment, which I did August 23, 1886. I became very much discouraged at times, but persevered. I felt almost desperate and knew of nothing else to turn to. My throat trouble, being aggravated by a serious stomach difficulty, made it very obstinate to deal with, but at last, after persevering for a time with the use of your remedies, I consider I am permanently cured. If this will be of any value to you, you are at perfect liberty to use it; also refer any one to my mother, my husband or myself. Very truly yours, Mrs. J. D. WILLY.

821 Olive street, Los Angeles, Cal.

To the many testimonials won by Dr. Williams I give the pleasure to add my own to the list so highly in his favor. For nearly two years I had been suffering from throat and lung trouble, brought on by catarrh. Had tried many remedies in the meantime, but found only temporary relief. After two months' treatment, prescribed by Dr. Williams, my cough left me altogether and I now have no pain in my throat or lungs as formerly. I cannot speak too highly of the benefits I have received and shall ever be grateful to one who is worthy of the highest recommendation.

MISS MINNIE H. HARRIS, Riverside, Cal.
NEWELL (Cal.), Sept. 22, 1886.
Dr. Williams—DEAR SIR: I write to tell you how much I thank you for what you have done for me. My catarrh and deafness, which have been a burden to me for so long a time, are entirely cured, and my general health so much improved that I feel like a different person. Thanking you again for your many deeds of kindness, I am respectfully yours, Miss ANNIE RICHARDS.

LOS ANGELES (Cal.), Dec. 4, 1886.
Dr. M. Hilton Williams—DEAR SIR: I desire to let every man, woman and child know that you were instrumental in saving my life from that foul destroyer, consumption. I came to Los Angeles from Quincy, Ill., on the 10th of June, 1886. The very next day I began treatment. I was at that time afflicted with a large cavity in the upper lobe of the right lung, from which I had suffered ever seven years, but, thank God, you cured me in 16 weeks' time, and now I am as well and strong as ever. Tell it to all. Yours truly, JAMES JESSOR, Quincy, Ill.

F. S.—I go home tomorrow.
Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedial home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business what ever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success. The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.
Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but, if impossible to do so, can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address
